

I recover you the origin of my dream, with all the things we learned.

In this dream, I run after the signals and impulses that determine our journey in following an attitude which is open towards the world of communication... I keep dreaming like the “Viuda de la tierra” (Widow of the earth).

I will go on a journey towards new horizons, to Chile, to hear what the people of Huasco have to say, be supportive with my way of living together so that others can be aware of their situation. A situation that involves our future.

There is a project in the region of Atacama, in Chile called PASCUA-LAMA.

The multinational Barrick Gold, a company that has direct relations with George Bush senior, owns this project.

The project proposes to realize a copper, silver and gold mining, in the high mountains of Andes, at the frontier between Chile and Argentina. The mining fields are situated under three glaciers (Toro I, Toro II and Experience), that are part of the hydrographic bowl of Huasco, and which aliments most of the rivers of that region. This project would provoke the direct contamination of the rivers, due to the mining process with the use of cyanide and vitriol.

It results alarming that this project was signed by the former Chilean president Ricardo Lagos, who is currently in charge for the UN as secretary of climatic change.

The people of Huasco do not want that project to be neither part of their lives, nor part of their land, which is also our Earth.

Once the communication is established with the Huasco people, I try to do my best in tying in time and space; everybody should commit himself with strength to stop this damned and crazy project.

I put at your disposal a series of documents translated into various languages as well as posters where you will find the resumed information... The beauty lies in the simplicity. You can download it and forward it to your contacts ... hoping that all those who will adhere to the initiative will offer an opportunity to decide our future. THANKS T@ ALL

“The distant places are close places and possibly not very far. They are waiting to become what they really are: spaces of desire to get real. Sometimes our history and life have the purpose to become a livable place, the realization of an idea, the specification of our vital power” (Antoni Marí)

CREATE A SOCIAL COLLECTIVE INITIATIVE

Concerning the journey to” La Viuda de la Tierra” to Pascua Lama:

I feel that the project of Pascua-Lama is one of the most evident examples of lies with which we are manipulated in all societies. It seems that this story is a real attempt to Earth’s life, a sick madness due to the immense thirst for power in between the debates about climate change.

Many people did not give credit to the news about the realization of this project, not even those who live in those lands. For the world it is simple information, for the people who live there it is the reality of a future without water.

Why do I go to Pascua Lama? To share the reality, to be supportive and imagine a way of helping... I started some time ago...between butterflies...

I dreamt a way to create a voice of silence capable to surmount borders. The space in the time makes me feel and believe that it is possible and, as I said to a good friend, if we could create the Miracle, it would be something different.
To do so the only thing that I got is the communication and I put in it my belief for this world, the rest will depend on you. I keep always learning.

THE DREAM THAT I LEAVE TO EVERYBODY

“THE ART IS NOT A MIRROR TO REFLECT REALITY, BUT A HAMMER TO GIVE SHAPE” BERTOLT BRECHT

I dream that we all share the same goal: to defend life. I dream that art and creativity will reach everybody and express, on the streets, the wish to change the values that govern the world.

I dream about what we could reach getting together for the same cause and create a collective image that gives us hope and strength to continue. Without flags, without borders, without distinction of race and religions... only with the desire to protect life in the name of Earth.

Yes, I imagined that, I am convinced that it is possible.

I will start in Pascua Lama wishing, loving and hoping that this dream will be shared... Change it into reality and see what happens in the world, this is the answer.

The initiative is simple.

As simple as drawing a “+” on the palm of our hands

With a “+” on our hands you can show social cohesion against political and economic power that damages our future for which we have the right to decide.

Make prevail the feeling in front of our lives as citizens and highlight the necessity of the value exchange that govern us.

Demand transparency and frankness in front of the intentions of any decisions that damage our future.

The initiative is a process

In Pascua-Lama I will start on March 22nd with the marking of my hands, and let them marked until April 22nd, Day of Earth

I invite all those people who live in a situation of aggression on our Earth or their future to do the same from that same day on. Let us meet in the place of the original conflict and marks our hands in sign of the protection of our world

I take the final responsibility to reunite the images of those who want to share their hands to this union ... hoping that our energy will help us to change the world into a better place.

The will to change... to wish, to express, to dream freely, it is possible to do on a global level. This is the dream of “Viuda de la tierra” (Widow of the Earth) today.

It is a change, a distinct language that grounds on the transparency of being itself. Making it come true is a personal issue, but I am convinced that we can disclose the need of an exchange.

Create a collective dream that helps us to protect ourselves from failure, from impotence, from violence, from war, from manipulation and oppression, from loneliness, from hunger, from falsity, from walls, from VIPs and plastic... I make you accomplice of my project.

With all my soul open towards communication, I invite you to get together and share this project

Let us stop the destruction of the Earth, turn our attention towards Pascua Lama, and let us help each other.
And let us entrust on Pascua Lama the hopes towards other regions that suffer the same reality.

“The river that sweeps all along is called violent, but nobody calls violent the layers of earth that oppresses it.” Poem on violence” (Bertolt Brecht)
